

Week 43– Questions to Consider

Psalm 120-122 ~ Proverbs 25:15-28

Small Group Warm Up Question:

How are you trying to share God's truth and love with the next generation?

1. Do “lying lips” bother you? Why? Why do some people thrive off of conflict? How have you learned to navigate, avoid, or restrain those who gossip, lie, or love to provoke conflict? (Psalms 120) What is it like when you finally encounter peace?
2. Read Psalm 121:1-2. This is a Psalm that would be recited when climbing up to the temple to worship God in Jerusalem. Why do you think the Psalmist begins this way? When we walk, how does the focus of our eyes affect us? What does it look like to set the “eyes” of our heart on God? When we go to God in prayer for help, why is remembering Him as Creator so powerful?
3. How does the rest of Psalm 121 comfort you about who God is and how he works?
4. How would you explain to a non-Christian the purpose of church? How would you encourage a new Christian about the importance of going to church? What gets you excited about going to church? What can steal our joy in going to church? (Psalm 122)
5. What does it mean that a “soft tongue will break a bone”? (Proverbs 25:15) Why is speaking softly so challenging at times? Why is it often so effective?
6. Read Proverbs 25:21-22. What are some practical ways you have sought to love on your “enemy”? Why would such love be like “burning coals on his head”? Even if our enemy does not respond well to such love, how does receiving the Lord's “reward” encourage you? Read Romans 5:8-10. When did God love us?
7. Middle eastern roofs were often flat, uncomfortable (with exposure to the sun and elements), with dirty corners (where dust and debris accumulates). Similarly, why is marital conflict so hard? (Proverbs 25:24) What are some good techniques you have learned to better love and communicate with your spouse?
8. In what parts of your life do you desire more self-control? How does the imagery of a city with walls help you to visualize the importance of self-control? (Proverbs 25:28)
